41st ECS hosts 'future force'

Mercedes Nevins, a student at Castle Hill Country Day School, gets help adjusting a pilot's helmet during a tour of the 41st Electronic Combat Squadron May 4. More than 20 children from the school attended the tour and were treated to an in-depth look at the squadron and its mission. This tour is just one of many the squadron has given to children to enhance community relations and inspire a very young "Future Force." See Page 13 for more information.

CAIB tackles tough issues

"Leaders are working through the Community Action Information Board at building a more resilient community on Davis-Monthan AFB," said Shanna Moore-Best, Family Support flight chief and CAIB executor. "Positive changes are coming about as a result of this forum."

Nearly a year old, the CAIB was designed to be a cross-functional forum to identify and resolve issues at all levels that impact readiness of Air Force members and their families emphasizing positive actions and programs to strengthen readiness through a sense of community.

"Our goal is to build a resilient community at D-M and sustain a fit, ready, fighting force," said Col. Bobby Wilkes, 355th Wing Commander and Chair for the CAIB.

Wilkes invited the CAIB team from Air Combat Command to gather insight on their techniques.

"The ACC CAIB team shed some insight on building a strong community," said Moore-Best. "However, we designed a CAIB to be tailor-made for D-M's needs."

As a result, committees were formed to support a total wing effort to include both military and civilian organizations.

Leaders from these agencies meet the first Thursday of every month to approve and resource community actions.

UPAR responsibilities

UPARs are responsible for being the "eyes and ears" of the public affairs office. Each and every squadron on base has unique individuals in it that have an interesting story to tell, whether it is about sports, awards, lifesaving acts, IDEA program contributions, etc.

Each of your squadrons are also making improvements to the methods or process that they use or to squadron facilities or community areas via self help projects. UPARs are responsible for getting the information to the public affairs staff in a usable format and in a timely manner.

Not every idea is going to get picked up. The staff focuses on issues that effect the base populace in general, but it never hurts to present ideas to your squadron UPARs so that they can judge the input for newsworthiness or unique human interest appeal and forward it to the staff.

The following are some of the areas we hope to utilize UPARs to tell your squadron's story (based on skills):

- Provide news ideas as well as write and shoot photos of squadron activities for submission to the base newspaper
- Review and solicit Hometown News Release submissions
- Review their squadron's submissions to the base TV Channel (75)
- Seek volunteers for tours and speaking engagements

Commander's Salute

"This week I salute Master Sgt. Ron Hoover, 355th Wing antiterrorism/force protection NCO in charge, for leading the Joint Staff Information Vulnerability Assessment visit. Certainly a job well done and thanks."

Supporting each other and working together to provide the best programs and services is a common goal we all share as members of Team D-M.

Ideas, suggestions, comments and kudos are an important ingredient for continuous improvement. The fastest way to pass along comment or to get an answer to your concern is to contact the agency chief or functional manager listed here.

Still no solution? The Commander's Corner phone line is available 24 hours a day, at 228-4747, or you can send an e-mail to us at: 355thWing.CommandersCorner@dm.af.mil.

If you leave your name, phone number and a message, you'll receive a prompt reply, either in writing or by telephone. We will honor your confidentiality, but sometimes we need to contact callers to gather additional information. If your concern is of general interest to the base populace, the response may be published in the Desert Airman. Anonymous calls may not be published in the newspaper, we recommend you leave a contact phone number if you'd like us to provide an answer.

Commissary

Concern: I have to agree with the recent Commander's Corner call written about the sarcasm of some of the baggers at the Commissary because I've had a few of them say to me, "Is that all you plan to pay?" I usually give them at least a $2 tip. I've had some pretty nasty remarks made to me. They do not do it when my husband is around, but they will do it before he gets there with the car.

Response: We apologize for any embarrassment or inconvenience this encounter has caused you.

It is strictly up to our valued customers as to how much they choose to tip our baggers. It is the Defense Commissary Agency's policy that our baggers be courteous at all times, to all patrons, whether they receive a tip or not. I can assure you that disciplinary action will be taken against any bagger demonstrating this type of abusive behavior. Baggers can be identified by their number, which is clearly displayed on their person or on the cash register receipt. To assist management, if you witness this type of behavior again, please notify the manager on duty immediately and provide the bagger's number.

Bottomline: this type of behavior is inappropriate and will not be tolerated at our Commissary.

TRICARE cards

Concern: I have been here since November and have been trying to get TRICARE cards.

The TRICARE office said they ordered them five times and they have not yet come in. We went to the TRICARE office on base and they cannot help. They said all they could do was punch a phone number and that is about it.

The people whom we called won't tell us the supervisor's name or let us talk to the supervisor. I am at the end of my rope.

Response: I understand as of this date, you have received your cards ... great! However, I've asked our Medical Group patient advocate to stay engaged so we can determine where the problem was with your situation. TRIWEST is working with TRICARE's enrollment director, to follow-up on the events, so hopefully we won't have the same problem in the future.

SATO service

Concern: I have a concern regarding the customer service at the SATO office. I recently had difficulty getting a call back from them after requesting assistance during a family emergency.

Response: On behalf of SATO Travel, please accept our apology for our not getting back with you as they stated they would. This oversight was not intentional; all employees have been reminded of the need to be responsive to our customers.

Again, we are very sorry for any inconvenience this caused you and your family.

TMO helps D-M families 'on the move'

By Karenanne Beavers
355th Transportation Squadron

Every year, thousands of military and civilian people get transferred worldwide, and those transfers are busiest, May through October.

These busy months are a challenge to the 355th Transportation Squadron, which expects to handle the household shipments for more than 2,000 Davis-Monthan AFB members.

D-M competes with all military installations for moving vans and there is a shortage of van line equipment during the summer months due to the large number of shipments.

"We strive to accommodate each individual during this hectic time," said Will Jordan, 355th TRANS traffic management officer. "Each summer brings stress for all. The Traffic Management Office has some great tips for helping everyone get through the long, hot summer."

◆ How soon should TMO be contacted?

Customers should plan their move at least 30-60 days in advance. The customer service desk can be reached at 8-4817 or 8-4818 extension #204. TMO representative will be at all outbound Combat First and Last Impression briefings to provide information on what you should do to start preparing.

◆ What are the customer service hours?

The TMO office is open 7 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. If customers need more time, the TMO will make arrangements for Saturday appointments from 8 a.m. until noon. Local moving companies may start packing as early as 6 a.m. and work as late as 9 p.m. The early hours are due to the extreme summer heat. As the summer progresses, they may also be required to pack and pick up on the weekends.

◆ Why does it take TMO seven days to get property moved?

All personal property shipments require individual contracts with the carrier industry. The shipment conditions such as pack dates, pick-up dates, delivery dates and the size of the van required have to be negotiated with the carrier. TMO must give the carrier seven days to respond to the moving order, and if all agree, then a contract between the government and a specific carrier is created. The government then becomes liable for completing the contract or pay the carrier for any losses.

◆ May pickup dates be changed within five days of a move?

No. There is not enough time to cancel the contract and enter into a new contract. The carrier has already assigned a driver and routed the shipment accordingly. The dates the customer gives to the TMO counselor at time of signing all documents are the official dates.

◆ What can be shipped as household Goods?

Customers may ship all personal property associated with the home and all personal effects including snowmobiles, motorcycles, mopeds and golf carts. Unaccompanied baggage includes pots, pans, dishes, linens and other items that fit into the baggage container.

◆ What items cannot be shipped?

Items that cannot be shipped include airplanes, automobiles, trucks, vans, camper trailers, farm equipment and live plants.

Propane tanks can no longer be shipped as well as items that are considered hazardous such as corrosive liquids, explosives and flammables.

◆ How do customers arrange to move?

TMO makes all arrangements for packing and pickup of household goods. Customers should come prepared, when visiting TMO, with four copies of orders for each shipment, a power of attorney, if needed, and desired moving dates. People should make arrangement for a babysitter for small children and put animals in a kennel or room during the move.

◆ Can Privately-Owned Vehicles be shipped?

Shipping a POV is an entitlement and depends on the location of the assignment.

◆ What are the shipping options for stateside assignments?

There are a few options available to military members for stateside moves.

Code 1 - Van movement - for stateside shipping. Property is packed accordingly to requirements and placed into a 40' van along with other shipments and taken to destination.

Code 2 - Containerized stateside move- household goods are placed in containers and travel on a flatbed truck to the destination.

Do-It-Yourself (DITY) move- the member packs, loads, and weighs their property. The member gets 95 percent (minus 28% Federal income tax) of what the government would have paid a local carrier. Members must schedule with TMO in advance of the move to get the incentive package.

◆ How are moves from off base to family housing done?

The member brings a DD Form 150, housing orders, to TMO to make an appointment. Moves can be done either by DITY or local move.

◆ When is the best time to move and are there any tips to reduce the moving stresses?

Most people try to move the first and last week of each month. Scheduling a move at the middle of a month is easier. People can minimize stress by giving the packing and loading their full attention. Call the TMO emergency hotline at 8-7176 for help.

For people who have recently arrived at D-M and haven't found a home yet, property may be stored. "When PCSing, a member is authorized 90 days of storage from the date their shipment clears in with TMO," said Senior Airman Latoria McNealy, TMO counselor.

"If additional storage time is needed you can get another 90 days authorized by TMO. Customers must come into the TMO office and fill out a request for storage. If more time is needed, TMO can approved another 90 days depending on the circumstances. The same rules apply to DITY moves, but the member must find and pay for their own storage before asking for extension entitlements."

AEF Center offers new deployment tool

By Lt. Col. Bryan Holt
Aerospace Expeditionary Force Center

The Air Force's Web-based deployment tool, EAF Online, has been redesigned to give airmen more help with AEF issues.

The Aerospace Expeditionary Force Center here redesigned the Web site to give users more information, enhanced access and the convenience of a single source for all AEF deployment information. The center is the agency for implementing the Air Force's EAF concept.

"This is a major milestone to provide better service to those deploying," said Lt. Col. Marie Barboza, AEF Center online project officer.

The new format combines features of the previous AEFC site into a Web "portal" which provides access to various databases and can be customized for each user. The site offers an array of information including deployment checklists, the AEF Commanders' Playbook, lessons learned, and the newest feature, the Commanders' Toolkit.

The major attraction for deployers is the position descriptions with information on the duties, requirements and conditions of specific deployed positions. Users get the information by first registering at the site, which establishes their profile. Future logins will provide information tailored to the user's career field. The deployment checklist includes training, medical status and other qualifications required for deployment, as well as links to references. Commanders can track training requirements of their people.

The Commander's Toolkit upgrade to EAF Online allows commanders to track the deployment status of their unit and people.

Future enhancements will include a training module to track skill level training and a module to track operations tempo. All modules are updated by pulling data from existing Air Force data sources, such as the Personnel Data System.

"EAF Online is also very beneficial to Air Force Reserve and Air National Guard members," Barboza said. The position descriptions and the Commanders' Toolkits include information for active-duty, Guard and Reserve personnel.

The restricted Web site can be accessed via military and government computers at <https://aefcenter.acc.af.mil/>. The AEFC has also added a new public Web site accessible from any computer. It can be accessed through EAF Online or directly at <http://aefc.langley.af.mil>.

Updated daily, the unclassified site allows users to link to EAF/AEF activities, theater information and other key issues.

"As the AEF construct matures, the unclassified Web site provides critical information on how the Air Force conducts business in the 21st century to the general public, family members and news media," Barboza said.

"This also allows Air Force people to get certain AEF information from their home computers.

The sites offer "one-stop shopping" for those eligible to deploy and those who want more information about the EAF concept and AEF process. Individuals can also provide feedback through EAF Online.

"It is critical that everyone identified for an AEF should go to EAF Online to obtain the latest information they need for their deployment," Barboza said.

"This is a major milestone to provide better service to those deploying."

tered subcommittees and established task forces to fulfill community needs.

The CAIB utilizes the chaplain's office, Family Support, support group and medical group, as well as special subcommittees and councils like the D-M Activities Council, Transition and Relocation Assistance Committee, Family Advocacy Committee, Health Promotion Working Group, Life Choices Committee, Community Action Response Team, Special CAIB, Underage Drinking Task Force and Victim and Witness Assistance Council.

"These organizations pool together their resources to take care of the entire base and in some cases, one squadron at a time," said Moore-Best. "We are currently taking one hour seminars out to squadrons that address their needs."

This may be a marriage enrichment seminar, financial management or a health promotions seminar.

Whether the CAIB is educating the community through seminars or providing activities or support through the Family Support Center, Chaplain's office or Life Choices Committee, it is designed to meet simple requests, as well as meet the most demanding needs of those involved in a crisis.

The Community Action Response Team and the Special CAIB involves a team of experts from the command post, who are sent out to handle emergencies which might include suicide, other death or severe injury, missing persons in imminent danger or complex situations.

"The CAIB is convened after a traumatic event to examine the event, determine 'lessons learned' and to forge steps to prevent future occurrences," said Wilkes.

From education to prevention, the CAIB is striving to make a difference in the D-M community.

By Maj. Lawrence Bates
355th Equipment Maintenance
Squadron Commander

Mother's Day has come and gone and now Father's Day is just around the corner.

My family has planned a vacation to Phoenix where we plan to spend some quality family time together eating out at some good restaurants, shopping, going to movies, and lounging around the swimming pool.

My wife has even scheduled an early morning tee time for me at one of the great Arizona golf resorts.

So I have to ask myself if I really deserve all this special treatment and attention.

Have I been the role model father and husband that I want to be?

While reflecting on this question, I reached in my day planner and took out a pamphlet I've been carrying around for years. It's titled "10 Ways To Be A Better Father" by Crawford W. Loritts, Jr.

Over the 17 years of marriage and 12 years as a father, I've often referred back to this pamphlet to remind me of my shortcomings and to rededicate myself to attain my goals of being a good father. I want to share five of these principles with you.

Passionately love your wife

With few positive images of husbands around, girls don't know what to look for in a man, and young men don't know how to treat a woman. Your daughter

Are you a role model father?

Maj. Lawrence Bates (right), 355th Equipment Maintenance Squadron commander, reviews results of EMS' annual ground safety inspection with members of the 355th Wing Safety office. Bates has commanded the 355th EMS since September 1999.

ters are going to date young men who show the same level of commitment and respect you model. And your sons are going to treat their girlfriends and wives the same way they see you treat your wife. Let your children see you sharing love and affection with their mother. When you and your wife have a conflict, show your children how two people can make up. The most important area of life you prepare your children for is marriage and family, and their best preparation is to live with a dad who loves their mom.

Be a man of integrity, or your words will fall on deaf ears

Who you are behind closed doors is the real you. If you sing in the choir on Sundays and then yell at your wife all week, whatever you say about kindness and caring won't count in your children's eyes. Do you keep your promises? When you commit to do something with your kids, do you break your back to carry it through? What means the most to our kids is what their dad is in private is also what they see in public.

Your children's importance to you can be measured by how much time you spend with them

Calendars don't lie. No matter what we say; children know we spend time on the things and with the people that are most important to us. Remember this when you are deciding whether or not to attend an activity that is important to them. Plan to spend time with your children. Whatever your work schedule is, it's dad's responsibility to foster times of just being with his children. Find out what interests your children and support them with your time.

You, more than anyone else, can give your children lifelong self-worth.

How your children perceive their worth in dad's eyes powerfully influences their lives. Mothers can have a phenomenal influence in our lives. But when dad says, "Son, that was a good job," that can mean so much more. A man makes a lasting mark on his kids' lives when he

Survive the Arizona summer safely

By Staff Sgt. David Evans and Staff Sgt. Robert Cooper
355th Wing Safety

Well it's that time of year again. Summer-time is fast approaching and with it comes the natural urge to get out and enjoy every bit of it. The kids are out of school, the vacation season is in full swing, and more people tend to engage in more water-related activities. This is also the time when safety is stressed by the "101 Critical Days of Summer" campaign.

Needless to say, in Arizona, heat stress is a very real concern. The heat is already upon us. Just in the month of April we've experienced 90 plus temperature and that's a pretty good indicator that it's going to be a hot summer! On an average year we put away our winter gear around the end of February while the rest of the nation is still under the cold blanket of old man winter.

In this region we prepare for the hot times early but for some reason, there's something missing; it's free in most areas of recreation and it's the best tool you can pack—water, and plenty of it. This is truly the best tool you can have with you in hot weather. Optimal performance while playing in the sun depends on hydration. Dehydration or excessive loss of body water can lead to heat exhaustion or even heat stroke. Some of the symptoms of heat exhaustion and heat stroke are headache, nausea, and cool and clammy skin with a body temperature above 105 degrees. People who are more at risk are individuals that are, diabetic, have high blood pressure, or who have heart, lung or kidney disease.

Also, let's not forget the family pets, they also need plenty of water while running in the summer heat. So remember to keep your body well hydrated, drink plenty of water before, during, and after exposure to the elements. Sports drinks are a good choice if you're exercising or working in hot conditions. Remember to limit yourself on hot days. Don't overdue it. Heat Stroke can set in less than an hour. So if you feel yourself getting warm or lightheaded, it's best to take a time out and rest. Heat related illnesses are preventable. Along with the heat related gives them appropriate praise. It inspires them and gives them an incentive to reach higher. But the reverse is also true. Never call your children names or use demeaning words. From dad those arrows inflict deep wounds.

Don't be afraid to show your tender side

Tender words and affection matter. Studies show that when children don't experience that affection, they will search for it in self-destructive ways. A day shouldn't go by that a dad does not tell his children, "I love you." Each day may be the last time we have that opportunity.

We need to make the most of our time with our children, so we never look back and wish, "If only I had spent more time, or given more praise, or told them how much I loved them." I want to give my best to being a father. So take a moment this Father's day and ask yourself if you've been giving your best. Are you the role model father that you want your son to be some day or your daughter to marry? Nothing worth achieving ever comes easy. Happy Father's Day to all the Dads in the world.

Summer

problems are many other risks. There are so many things to consider on a day-to-day basis, whether you're riding bicycles with your family or driving to the grocery store. Personal Risk Management is a part of your everyday life. Without this management tool the clock just might stop. Some examples include mowing your lawn with steel-toed boots and goggles instead of flip-flops and shorts. Other forms are done subconsciously; almost all drivers look over their vehicle before operating them. Once inside you fasten the seat belt and look in your rear and side view mirrors before pulling into traffic. To basically sum it up, Personal Risk Management is the process of thinking before you act. Water sports are also a favorite summertime activity but with the fun comes risks to those involved. Here are some tips to use before partaking in those activities: First, tell someone where you'll be before you leave on a ride, tell someone where you are going and when you will return. If you run into problems this will help authorities find you. Never go out alone — use the buddy system. Ride with someone in a boat or on another personal watercraft. Know your limits and ride according to your abilities, not anyone else's. Check your craft internally and externally before you get on the water. Make sure the throttle and all switches are working properly; that fuel and battery lines are properly connected; that no fuel is leaking; and that cables and steering are functioning. And never, ever operate your personal watercraft after dark. This practice is illegal and hazardous. Last but not least, this is also the time of year when we gas up the wagon, pile the kids in, and attack the roads. Before departing you should always plan your trip in advance. Do not try to drive more than 10 hours in any 24-hour period. Take periodic rest breaks every couple of hours. Try to stop and get a good night's sleep (7-8 hours) while traveling. Have sufficient funds for traveling to help alleviate the need for traveling "straight through." Check the weather forecast for intended routes of travel. Don't be caught off guard! We discourage driving in the late night hours. A high percentage of drivers on the road at this time are intoxicated. Remember restraint devices are a must to include child restraints. Keep children younger than 12 in the back seat, buckled up. Children younger than 4 and weighing less than 40 pounds must be in an approved restraint device. Stress vehicle condition. Have vehicles checked prior to departing. We haven't covered everything and depend on you to get through the summer injury free — right?

(Editor's note: This article is part two of a two-part series on sexually transmitted diseases.)

Genital Herpes, is a sexually transmitted viral infection of the genital area.

This disease is characterized by the formation of fluid-filled, painful blisters in the genital area.

There are two types of the herpes simplex virus, type 1 (HSV-1 oral herpes,) and type 2 (HSV-2-genital herpes).

HSV-Type 1 is not transmitted sexually and usually causes lesions (blisters), above the waist.

HSV-type 2 is an incurable, sexually transmitted disease that causes lesions, below the waist.

How is genital herpes transmitted and who is more likely to get this disease?

The disease is primarily acquired through intimate sexual contact.

Individuals who become sexually active at a young age, have multiple sexual partners or have a medical history of sexually transmitted diseases, are at greater risk of contacting this disease.

Knowing your partner and proper use of condoms can greatly reduce the risk of con-

Genital Herpes ... the facts

Did you know?

- ◆ An estimated 45 million people in the U.S. have genital herpes
- ◆ About one in five people older than 12 harbor HSV-2 herpes virus according to the Centers for Disease Control
- ◆ Only 10 percent with the virus know they are infected
- ◆ Once you have genital herpes virus you have it for life -- anyone you have sexual contact with has a chance of getting the virus
- ◆ Up to 50 percent of the babies born to infected mothers will develop the virus, which can lead to severe neurological disabilities and death
- ◆ Genital herpes is a major factor in the transmission of HIV
- ◆ People with genital herpes have an increased risk for getting and spreading HIV
- ◆ Condoms greatly reduce the risk of sexually transmitted diseases
- ◆ Persons with multiple sex partners have an increased risk of getting genital herpes
- ◆ Abstinence is a choice more and more young people are choosing tracting genital herpes.

What signs and symptoms are associated to genital herpes?

Many complain of itching, pain, and tingling at the area where the blisters will later appear. This stage usually occurs 2-7 days after being infected with the virus. Shortly after this stage the blisters appear. In the initial first infection these blisters are red fluid-filled and painful. The initial infection is usually worse than recurrent episodes. The pain, which is associated with the blisters, usually is relieved in two weeks. The blisters usually heal without scarring in three to four weeks. In rare cases, some individuals are asymptotic(have no symptoms), but they can still infect others with the virus, because it is still in their bodies.

This disease is not fatal but it is serious.

Once, you acquire genital herpes, you will have it the rest of your life. Women who get this disease can pass it on to their babies. Genital herpes, has been known to cause blindness, encephalitis (a disease that causes inflammation of the brain, which could cause death), and even death in babies born to women with genital herpes.

How can this disease be treated? The most common medicine used is topical acyclovir (for the initial infection) which helps decrease the severity and pain of the blisters during a breakout. The oral medicine taken by mouth, acyclovir, helps to reduce the frequency of subsequent lesions. These medicines don't work for everyone, the best medicine is to avoid getting the virus!

If you or someone you know suspects they may have genital herpes, call your clinic to schedule an appointment for testing. Cultures can be taken from the fluid of the herpes blister and cultured. It takes seven to 14 days for test results.

Genital herpes is an incurable sexually transmitted disease. Being intimate with only one person, protecting yourself when engaging in sexual activity and proper condom use, can greatly reduce the chances of acquiring genital herpes. If you have any questions about genital herpes or any other disease please feel free to contact your healthcare provider or Public Health at 8-2714.

41st infiltrated by Castle Hill Country Day School

By Capt. Ken Knox and Airman 1st Class Christia Ouellet
41st Electronic Combat Squadron

The 41st Electronic Combat Squadron hosted a tour of their squadron May 4 for Castle Hill Country Day School. More than 25 children and family members were on hand to take a look at the Compass Call aircraft and mission.

The children ranged in age from newborn to five and were very excited at the chance to tour the 41st's Life Support Section as well as the EC-130.

The 41st provided a way for these kids to get their hands on some of the equipment that aircrew use on a daily basis and get onto the planes that fly over their school every day.

The day started off with a briefing on the history of the 41st given by the Director of Operations, Lt. Col Donald "Bits" Bacon. After the briefing, the kids got to take a tour of the Life Support section. Most of them wanted to put on the parachutes and try on the helmets although a 40-pound child wearing a 35-pound chute did pose a few problems.

After that, it was off to the flight line where the kids got to tour an EC-130. When asked how they enjoyed themselves at the 41st, Heather Knox replied, "It's good."

More than 20 students from the Castle Hill Country Day School got an up close and personal look at the 41st Electronic Combat Squadron May 4.

The best answer came from Demi Rogers who said, "I really liked the pink airplanes."

Following the tour, Bacon presented the class teacher with a lithograph to take back to her classroom so the kids would always be able to remember their friends in the 41st.

Their teacher remarked that of all the trips that the kids had taken in their summer program, this has been the best support and largest involvement that they have had.

Mercedes Nevins (left) and Nash Hayden (right) got to get a feel for all the equipment Air Force pilots wear. The kids from Castle Hill Country Day School got to take a tour of the life support section at the 41st Electronic Combat Squadron, and that included putting on helmets, flight vests and parachutes. They also had the opportunity to walk through an EC-130E Compass Call aircraft, where they learned about the mission the men and women of the 41st perform every day.

Main responsibilities: To learn everything there is to know about the Air Force

Best aspects of your job: Realizing I have some of the best opportunities

Career goals: Continue my education ... I'd like to be an art teacher

Hobbies/outside activities: I enjoy learning about God and becoming closer to Him. I also love to draw, paint or anything involved with art

What do you like best about D-M: I like being stationed with my husband. The base is nice too ... I also like my job

What has been your best assignment; why: Elmendorf (Air Force Base), Alaska because of the environment. I also had a great church home.

Who inspires you; why: Jesus. I admire Jesus because of what He did for us. To have that much love for people who don't deserve it, including myself, is the greatest character a person could have. He inspires me to show the people around me how great and precious life is. He is everything I strive to be.

Lady Mustangs heat up softball bats

With a current league record of 8-1, and a strong tournament showing in three outings, the D-M Lady Mustangs Varsity Women's Softball Team are a force to be reckoned with. According to Coach Al Luna, "the ladies get stronger and more consistent as the season progresses." Air Force team shortstop Peni Delapena is among a talented lineup that includes a core of players who have been part of the team for more than four years. Some of the veterans include Liz Luna, Deb Callison, Trish Hudson, Michelle Stuttgen, Robin Boyd and Shawna Lukkes. (Left) Stuttgen waits the signal from third-base coach Carl Lukkes as he holds up a runner on second. (Below left) Shawna Lukkes pokes one short. (Below) Georgia Barnes shows her pitching form. The Lady Mustangs play every Tuesday and Thursday evening at the Golf Links Sports Complex.

Trail ride

An outdoor recreation center sunset trail ride is Saturday. Riders will saddle up at the Fort Huachuca stables for the two-hour mountain ride. Afterwards, there's an outdoor BBQ cookout. Transportation leaves D-M at 4 p.m., and arrives back at 11 p.m. Cost for transportation, two-hour ride and BBQ is $30 per person. Anyone younger than 18 must be with an adult. Outdoor Recreation has more information at 8-3736, or visit Building 4430.

Bowl for bucks

Air Combat Command's annual Bowling for Bucks promotion has begun. Three segments, Bowling for Bucks, Pinbusters and Bookbusters, give adults and youngsters a chance to win games, cash and prizes. Bowling for Bucks players use a 10-punch card. Completed cards are good for two free games, monthly cash and prize drawings, and a $500 August grand prize drawing. Pinbusters is for younger bowlers, who get a free game for completing a 5-punch card, and are eligible for monthly and grand prize drawings. Get cards at the D-M Lanes. Not valid with league and special-event games. Bookbusters, for grades 1 through 12, encourages summer reading. Students get a free game for reading five books from the base library, and are eligible for monthly and grand prize drawings. Cards are issued and validated at the library. ACC's sponsor is MilitaryMoves.com. Call the D-M Lanes, 8-3461, or the library, 8-4381.

8-Ball tournament

Pool players get together Thursdays, at 6:30 p.m., at the Desert Oasis Club, for the King of the Hill 8-Ball tournament. A weekly entry fee of $5 goes into a prize fund to be paid to winners. The fund is paid out weekly on a 100-percent basis. Weekly finalists go on to the Tournament of Champions in July. Get further details from Wendy Decatur at the club, 748-8666.

Kids bowl free

Games for young bowlers of all ages are free, at the D-M Lanes, 10 a.m. to noon, Mondays and Wednesdays (shoe rental is $1). Also at the D-M Lanes, youngsters up to 18 bowl for only 50 cents a game, 8 a.m. to 7 p.m., Mondays-Saturdays (shoes not included). Summertime bowling specials continue into August. Lanes, pro shop and Head Pin Café can be reached at 8-3461.

Tube the Salt

The outdoor recreation center's first Salt River tubing trip of the season is June 9. Participants use heavy-duty inner tubes for the three-hour ride down the seasonally flowing Salt River, east of Phoenix. Riders must be at least 8 years old, and 48 inches tall. Bring a lunch, beverage and plenty of sunscreen. Transportation (7 a.m. to 6 p.m.) is $15 a person; a tube rental fee of $10 is paid at the river (drivers license is used as a deposit). Another trip is planned July 14. Phone 8-3736, or come to Bldg. 4430.

Summer leagues

Summer bowling leagues, originally set to open Monday, will now begin during the week of June 4, at the D-M Lanes. Adults bowl weekdays – mornings, afternoons and evenings. A youth league and youth/adult league meets Saturdays. Most teams bowl through August. Register soon at D-M Lanes, or call 8-3461 for more details.

Golf for less

Summer rates are in effect at the Blanchard Golf Course. Play 18 holes with a cart for $13; guests pay $17. Walk the course and pay $6; guests are $10. Advance green-fee players can rent carts for only $7, and unlimited golf with cart costs just $10, any day after 4 p.m. Seasonal discount prices are valid, 9 a.m. to sunset, seven days a week, through Sept. 30.

Child Care for PCS Program

The Child Care for PCS program which provides child care to Air Force families with PCS orders is now available to individuals of all ranks. This program, intended to help relieve some of the stresses associated with moving, provides families with 20 hours of child care at both the base they are leaving and at their new base. As long as there is adequate child care available in family child care homes, bases will no longer have to limit the program to junior ranking personnel.

Trip Planner

Getting ready to PCS, separate, or retire? Traveling by vehicle? The relocation assistance program at the family support center has Trip Planner software available to help military, DoD civilians, and their families, to better prepare for cross-country travel. This program can route a journey and produce a printout with specific directions of the fastest route, total miles, and cost to reach a destination. Education

VEAP/MGIB Conversion

The VEAP-MGIB Conversion briefings are being held on the first and third Thursday of the month, 2 p.m. at the Education Center. Conversion ends on Oct. 31.

If you were enrolled in VEAP and have not converted to the MGIB, this is your chance to convert.

Call the base training and education services at 8-4815 for more information.

Retired and had a VEAP account?

You might be eligible for the VEAP/MGIB Conversion. Call the base training and education services at 8-4815 for more information.

Tuition Assistance

The next term for on base schools starts on May 29. Time to register for a class?

Don't forget to get your tuition assistance prior to your first class meeting. Call 8-4815 or 3813 for more information.

Buy into the Montgomery GI Bill

If you enlisted as of July 1, 1985, you are eligible to contribute a maximum of $600.00 towards your MGIB.

Added contribution increases the monthly MGIB payment for students using the MGIB.

Call 8-4815 or 3813 for more information.

Troy State University

Registration is underway for the summer term at Troy State University. The term begins May 28.

A $25 late registration fee will be charged after May 25. TSU offers three graduate programs, Human Resource Management, Management and Business Administration, that can be started at the beginning of any term.

Classes are held on weekends for working adults.

Call 748-2625 or e-mail tsudmafb@flash.net for more information.

Park University

Park University is continuing registration for the Summer term which begins on Monday, May 28, 2001.

In order to avoid the late fee charge of $20, registration and payment needs to be in our office by no later than the Friday before the term starts for the on-site classes.

For internet classes, payment must be made at the time of registration.

Call the Park University office at 748-8266.

Scholarship Winner

Sharon Timberman, wife of Staff Sgt. Edward Timberman, 357th Fighter Squadron, won the Park University Military Family Scholarship. "I was so excited and honored to win the scholarship," said Timberman, who will have the next five classes paid for thanks to the scholarship.

Attention Personnel Managers,

In response to the overwhelming success of the Aerotech Expo Job Fair held March 3rd, 2001, and the complete satisfaction of those companies who participated, the second 2001 job fair has been scheduled for Saturday, July 14th. Mark your calendar now and plan to participate in this highly successful job fair that has built a solid reputation for bringing quality applicants together with quality companies.

AEROTECH EXPO JOB FAIR

Sat., July 14th, 2001

Sponsored by the weekly aerospace trade publication Aerotech News and Review, Aerotech Expo 2001 will be held Saturday, July 14th from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the Challenger Memorial Center at the Antelope Valley Fairgrounds, Lancaster.

Combining the successful formula from past job fairs and our expanded network of publications will provide your company with an outstanding and far-reaching opportunity.

This highly successful event draws thousands of skilled job applicants in various fields including engineering, manufacturing, test operations, and related technical support personnel.

Participants from past Aerotech Expo job fairs include Boeing, SST, AIL Systems Inc., Woodside Summit Corp, Northrop Grumman, University of Phoenix, TIMCO, Computer Science Corp, AVTEL Inc., Aerochem, Volt Technical Services, Arcata Inc., Lockheed Martin Skunk Works, Spiral Technology, Inc., New Horizons, O.A.O. Corp, GTE MISTS II, Dimension Aviation, Lockheed Martin Enterprise Info Systems, PDS Aviation Services, Evergreen Air, Marconi, Teledyne Ryan and many more.

As with past Aerotech Expos, advertising promoting the event will be placed in media covering the following areas:

- | | | | |
|----------------------|------------------------------|------------------|------------------|
| • Los Angeles | • Pt. Mugu NAWC | • Ventura County | • Vandenberg AFB |
| • Palmdale-Lancaster | • Port Hueneme NCBC | • Edwards AFB | • Fort Irwin NTC |
| • MCLB - Barstow | • Los Angeles Air Force Base | • Nellis AFB | • Luke AFB |
| • Hill AFB | and surrounding communities | | |

Aerotech Expo job fairs have a reputation of attracting quality applicants at a fraction of the usual job fair cost.

For further information, call Cheri Spangler at (887) 580-8787.
